

Regional Statisticians Overseeing Screening of Applicants for National Trainers

Ghana Statistical Service is completing the process of screening applicants who applied for the Pre-Certification Training Programme for National Trainers. The four-month training programme which will combine virtual with in-person modules, will equip selected applicants with the tools to effectively communicate key concepts to other trainers and to enumerators.

The online application process, which did not require the payment of any fees, attracted 3,058 applications from all over the country. An initial desk review at Head Quarters to shortlist applicants selected 1,938 for screening and interviews in their region of residence.

Interview panels made up of the Regional Statisticians, members of the Regional Census Implementation Committee and GSS Regional Human Resource personnel are conducting the exercise.

The virtual training of National Trainers is scheduled to start on Thursday October 15th.
